1. On 19 December 1948, the Yugoslav Ministry of Foreign Affairs reportedly sent a secret memorandum to all Yugoslav diplomatic installations abroad.
2. According to this memorandum, all foreign missions were ordered to recommend for employment with Yugoslav commercial firms abroad all Yugoslav expatriates with proven commercial and industrial competence. This order exempts only those "actively working against the interests of Yugoslavia" and includes "those who are apolitical or with a minor political past".
